"The Invasion of the Body Snatchers"—A 1956 Film Becomes Reality

Sometimes reality outpaces fiction. This weekend a couple came to visit, the woman, somehow acquainted with my wife, is, ironically, the daughter of a close friend of mine back in 1964 when he and I were stationed at a naval air station at Sigonella, Sicily.

Maybe 6 months ago, after not having communicated with him for years, I called and talked with him and his wife at their Cincinnati home. It was going well until he brought up the subject of 'vaccines'. When I told him I had not gotten vaccinated—he went off.

The contention over 'vaccines' brings to mind the divide amongst Americans over Vietnam, or worse—brother against brother in the 1850s over whether Kansas would enter the Union as a 'free' or a 'slave' state. An issue put to rest by a bloody Civil War.

I had been hoping my friend's daughter, after spending the weekend with us, would intercede with her father on my behalf. But it was not to be. Over 3 days there was no mention of the state of the world. Instead, music, food, and family history chit chat.

Life, these days, is a reality check in which family and long-term friendships are not necessarily what we thought. Since the election cycle of 2015, followed by Covid, the 'welcome mat' of family is suspect—and friends we relied on for decades—turn away.

In the woke town where I live, because I am 'non-compliant', my wife's friends tend to meet her elsewhere. Even if I don't bring things up, they know who I am. But today at breakfast, 'chit chat' had been replaced in me by a 'chill' after reading that Germany was going 'full tilt boogie' from October until Easter, with 'unvaccinated' forced to wear 'dog snout' masks in public, not for medical reasons—but to make them identifiable.

The German Health Minister no longer has to hide the fact that forcing the unvaccinated to wear 'dog snouts' in public (like the yellow Jewish Badge of the 30's), is an ideological motivation tactic, to force the non-compliant to submit, this time to 'vaccinations' that reportedly have harmed or killed 10s of 1000s of Germans—at a minimum.

At breakfast, thinking about old friends that will never to return to my life, I recalled the film: 'Invasion of the Body Snatchers' from the mid 50's—something that correlates strongly with present time. A quick plot line: seedpods, the size of a person, from another galaxy, develop into an exact double, and when that person 'falls asleep' in proximity to the pod the 'double' assumes the identity. 'Friends and family' assist in placing the pods to get everyone 'on board' with the new reality. Does this plot sound familiar?

Eerily, this early B/W film is a 'sci-fi' version of present reality. Scenes follow with parents placing 'small pods' in the basement for the kids. And climaxing with actor Kevin McCarthy kissing his lover as they hide in a mineshaft, startled to feel no passion in her kiss. She fell asleep. it's not so bad she tells him. Freedom from emotions is calming—he should sleep. He runs for his life, away from horrific screams to stop him.

Maybe it's not the case but I remember the film having 2 different endings. In the 1st, the cops stop the pod trucks and end the 'invasion'. In the 2nd, the pods win-out.

With the globalization end-game hanging in the balance, why are not more of us rising up in anger? How do we continue to go along with Nazi suppression/compliance tactics—even when the facts are known to be otherwise? How, after years of available information, can parents allow criminals to injure and kill their children? And how can it be that the 'Invasion of the Body Snatchers' has been moved from 'sci-fi' to non-fiction?

It's not just Germany: most Western nations are complicit in turning the planet into a 'high budget, low grade, B horror film'. How can we still be hearing from Fauci that masking is a 'commonsense public health issue'. How can Sudden Adult Death (Syndrome) be blamed on gardening, or sitting, watching too much TV? How can there be so few autopsies when under 'emergency use', adverse reactions are legally assumed to be caused by 'vaccines'? How can Netherlands offer a 6th shot after a useless 5th?

It happens because 'big government', doing globalist bidding, is still in control. The American Rescue Act paid a billion dollars to have companies promote the vaccines as safe and effective—with no concern for science. In Australia, physicians lose their license if they publish or podcast information contrary to accepted health narrative.

Fauci denies responsibility for his advisories, which he gets from the CDC? If that is the case, what is his job? Is he merely the mouthpiece for the CDC, which is the advertising agency for Pharma, and also the testing agency? No, Fauci and his ilk are in this 'up to their necks', always making sure they don't grant an interview to a questioner.

This bunch outstrips the 'body snatchers' because this is actual genocide. Non-reported insurance data shows younger people dying at faster rates than older people while the head of HHS extends the emergency for 90 days to inoculate youngsters. Without the emergency—the genocide is not possible, and it does not matter that 'vaccine' booster efficacy in kids purportedly goes to less than zero after 60 days.

In my opinion, what the health agencies are doing is 'hate crime'—where they hate anything and everything that gets in the way of control or profit—take you pick.

Pfizer data is purportedly fraud—unblinded studies should have been tossed. Only highly-profitable drugs are listed as having any efficacy. To perpetuate 'hate crimes', every possible marginalization of the non-compliant is in use, and it is the regulatory and testing agency, the CDC, that pays for ads to 'vaccinate', mask, socially distance, take a test. Health agencies, like the social networks—are elite enforcement tools.

Let's keep the faith—sons of bitches lose in the end. But what may be coming our way between this fall and 2024 will pull out all the stops to keep the Left in control. Nothing is off the table, including war with China (my next article).

As we wait it out, what do we do in the meanwhile? We get ourselves: 'guns—gold—and a getaway. We make silver our bank account. It's worked for me. I have some I bought at $24, but more (US Eagles), that I got at $14. It's my wealth. It's my safety.

I keep saying I'm heading out over backroads soon. Northeast, then south. Anybody along the way who wants to get a coffee, or subscribe: erik@neverhadaboss.com.
