The Best Interest of the Patient is the Only Interest to be Considered

Science is not a noun—it's a verb. Science can only be identified as a 'noun' when it is used to describe the 'verb' that it is. There is no 'the science'. Someone can only be termed 'a scientist' when involved in experimentation that leads to scientific discovery.

Corporate-controlled physicians are forced to follow the dictates of lawyers and non-physician bureaucrats. And, just as the number of government employees expands at 3 times the rate of population growth (at some time everyone will work for the government?), the number of independent doctors is inverse to a corporate medical takeover.

Corporate-funded doctors are neither independent nor do they (as shown during Covid), work for patient's best interest. Not long ago, most doctors were in private practice, answering to no one but the patient. No one told the patient which doctors were covered under their insurance (most had no medical insurance). Instead, a successful medical practice/performance was judged by and depended on, satisfied customers.

Now that's all gone. Anyone with a wit of sense or knows of someone admitted to a hospital (who was opposed to accepted Covid treatment), and later died under suspect drugs and ventilators, now lives in fear of having to go into a hospital for treatment.

How did it happen that 'the propaganda machine' put so many into abject fear of the Wuhan virus that they allowed hospitals to function as prisons, ignoring patient's wishes, while keeping them incarcerated and disallowing families to decide for loved ones?

There was 'no preventative treatment' before the 'vaccines'. Just go home until you can't breathe and then we will put you on a ventilator. During the heyday of Covid, I found no mention on establishment press of the efficaciousness of vitamin D3/C, zinc or any immune boosters. Worse, was the total suppression of established medicines.

When the initial studies around the curative effects of ivermectin and hydroxychloroquine came out, there was a concerted move to make either unattainable through pharmacies—while a campaign was waged against both. This was not by coincidence.

'Off-patent' (inexpensive) drugs were labeled non-proven treatments because preventative/curative drugs would negate any basis for an 'emergency-use designation'.

These drugs were 'cancelled' (entirely), to where the only thing touted as preventative to the virus (and its spread), were 'vaccines'. Leaving 'good doctors' hamstrung.

A real doctor is a scientist—experimenting to heal a patient. As in a motto from the Mayo clinic: The best interest of the patient is the only interest to be considered. Just as 'Big-Agro' took food production out of the hands of farmers, and 'Big Weapons' took anti-war out of the hands of citizens, 'Big Pharma' took doctoring out of the hands of physicians. All done for profit and control—all acted out within the confines of 'a racket'.

The elite took it upon themselves to 'cancel' ivermectin and hydroxychloroquine, which allegedly could have saved more lives than Covid and the response to it—took.

When it became clear 'Big Pharma' did not care about patients, we asked the hard questions—proactively protecting our children—whose welfare belonged in our hands alone. Health regulators that we formerly looked to as guardians of our interests had been bought and sold—adding to the problem—requiring questions and close scrutiny.

Question what? Everything. Since health regulators are in bed with Pharma, what wouldn't they do to our kids and families to gain control and profit? What was the relationship between 'child vaccines' and out of control autism? Why is it reported that not a dime of federal grants goes to exploring the relationship between autism/'vaccines'?

This prompted me to take a look backwards for a timeline narrative of elite unconcern for American health—which shocked me. George Bernard Shaw's play "Pygmalion", is better known to us as "My Fair Lady", where a street urchin, Audrey Hepburn, is transformed into a lady. In fact, George was a reputed Malthusian depopulator.

Chief Justice, Oliver Wendall Holmes, finding that: If we can ask the best of Americans to give their lives for the nation, why can't we ask it of the worst? Mentality and physically challenged citizens have always been in the crosshairs of elite depopulators.

Planned Parenthood allegedly began as a Malthusian vehicle. It's founder, Margaret Sanger was purportedly a depopulator. Disposing of 'unproductive' Americans (which for the elite includes questioners), has been on an agenda throughout our history. Along with Britain and its 'imbecile laws' (sadly not including an inbred royal family).

In the US, the bastion of freedom, 20,000 so-called 'feeble minded' were sterilized in California. And that was just 'the tip', Virginia/Indiana eugenics/sterilization laws were adopted in 32 more states. Allegedly supported by Rockefeller/Carnegie funding.

In the switch to elite medical control, everything changes—including 'medical oaths' for graduates. If someone is introduced as a medical ethicist—look out. Medical ethics is now based in 'climate change' and overpopulation—devoid of discussion about the part elites played in perpetuating a population that is 4X what the planet can handle.

Watch out for so-called 'Fabian Societies', purposed to bring about a 'socialist society' by means of 'intellectual debate' Don't you believe it. The principle function of a 'socialist society' is to have you 'shut up and do what you are told'. This is especially true for any thought to be a non-productive members of society—narrative questioners.

I read somewhere that Biden picked a Canadian eugenicist to run the Covid task force. What's a eugenicist you ask? That's someone that works to 'off' citizens for the sake of ideology. Those include non-productive and aged, as in Canada's (Maid Act), which offers a way out from poverty and mental challenges—through assisted suicide.

Bill Gates (and friends) might be able to get population under control and curb dissent at the same time. What a boon for CO2 ideology. If we add to that, excess ('vaccine'?) death rates occurring in younger persons, and purported blanket orders of 'do not resuscitate' for Covid, for those with learning disabilities—we are well on our way.

We ought to fear hospitals. Older folks, if we have to go in for treatment, need a trusted primary care doctor and a 'limited treatment of care' order. Do not trust the elite.
