The Debate Served Notice—Liberty is on the Chopping Block

Only a fool would vote one's conscience in this election (that may not happen). A write-in for Ron Paul or Jill Stein wastes your vote. Donald Trump is an American nationalist. Kamala Harris is a certified member of the globalist collective. Deciding between the two, the nationalist supports the rule of law—the globalist supports rules-based order.

Let's be clear: both are authoritarian, but Trump (unless you piss-off his massive ego), lines-up as an American—Harris will sell your liberty/soul to a one-world tyranny. Even the Pope sees Trump's stand against illegals as inhuman. The world's gone nuts.

I suggested the debate would be rigged and republicans would get taken. That was the case. It was 3 against 1, and 2 of 3 were there specifically to marginalize Trump.

The ideology of the left contradicts human nature, making it impossible to defend policies. Instead they rely on ad-hominem attacks and lies to secure a path to victory. Polls show Kamala and the Moderators as carrying the night. The injustice of the setup may surface, but don't count on it. Why Trump, after the shitshow he's been subjected to, would agree to a debate neither hosted by neutral party, nor employing a single moderator tasked to assure pertinent questions got answered—is beyond imagination.

It's as if Trump went into a bar he'd been warned to avoid, where he failed to see he was outnumbered—in time to get his back to a wall. Instead of confronting that he was being set-up, Trump got pulled into an evening of ducking punches—on the back foot.

Unprepared for what was happening to him, he forged ahead with a beleaguered look and without the glib that won the night in 2015. Did he learn anything from 2020?

The fraud happened (Kamala did what she needed to do and Trump did not), and now I fear the election (if there is an election), may already have been decided. Making it worse is the charade taking place in the House, where the Speaker, as well as the process, supports a President Harris. The Spending Bill, as always, gets presented as 1 bill, rather than many line-items that need that need to be debated/voted-on individually. In that bill is something called the Save Act (Safeguard American Voter Eligibility), intended to assure that illegals don't vote—Save Act ain't never gonna become law.

The Save Act is a false promise that will be taken down before the conservatives (supporting the military industrial complex), and the democrats (supporting a welfare state takeover), come to a compromise to get what they want—without spending cuts.

Nobody knows how many illegals got registered by NGO's (funded by taxpayers as Biden's 20 million man illegal army)—or later registered to vote at DMV? How many illegals were moved to swing states where Trump won by a few thousand votes? Have some already voted? A leftist coup needs only a few thousand votes to become law.

What do we get with a Kamala presidency? Graft and grift. What needed brought out in the debate is the end-game for the kind of socialism she represents. Progressives stealing our hard-earned assets—and liberally taking/rationalizing what belongs to us.

Kamala may seal the border, once she understands that Germany sealed its border too late—in an un-controllable migrant crime wave. For illegals, w/out ID/passports, there's nowhere to deport them. Nations of origin have no responsibility to take them.

If Kamala wins, ultimate control, surveillance get rolled-out. It begins, picking at the edges, but it ends picking at our bones. Some readers see our situation dissembling, maybe faster, with Trump. No, Trump, with his limitations, is an American, while Kamala and Her Moderators, are over the line, into the garden of evil. But, Trump, shooting from the hip, makes the world more dangerous. Don't forget he ended nuclear treaties and warned China/Russia to wake-up wondering—is it today he nukes them?

The bigger question, with 51 days to go: will Biden/Harris end the world before election day. Victoria Nuland admits, that early on in the Russian, Special Military Op., a deal got made: Ukraine would retain control of the Donbas in exchange for accepting a non-NATO membership position of neutrality. She saw neutral as neutered, meaning she could not place offensive weapons (CIA stations/bio-labs), along Russia's border. So, she/Biden opted to kill 500K Ukrainians/destroy UKR in the interest of US interests.

What are neocons capable of between now and election day? In the past, things on the table now would have seemed preposterous. What things? Go after Russia with everything we have—even if it results in human extinction? To that end, Trudeau and British PM Starmer (fleas on the Russian bear), got together in support of supplying/allowing ex-president Zelensky the needed missiles—in his attempt to end the world.

NATO now finds itself in the same circumstance as Israel. It would be an existential threat for Israel to attack Hezbollah without backing from the US. And the US (with NATO), attacking Russia, would require backing from what the US military used to be.

Given Nuland's admission, the US may bet the empire, the reserve currency, along with its existence, in a futile attempt to hang onto even the appearance of global power.

Having ignored warnings of a Thucydides Trap (declining empire disallowing status to nations on the rise), steadfast, US Foreign Policy has moved from ignorance to evil.

With the armaments Ukraine has at present, long-range strikes, without more powerful missiles are not a game changer—but either brings a declaration of war by Russia, on NATO. Watch carefully this next week, for US/West backing for Zelensky to take the war to Russia. If that happens, it's game on and Putin may not hesitate to go first.

What do we do in that case? As I told my friend Rachel when she asked if Kamala could actually win—and what would we do then? We live our lives as best we can. Party on, Rachel. Along the way, we remember that humans have survived for longer than we even know. More than that, each one of us alive today is an ancestor of someone who survived the seemingly unsurvivable. Onward we go—with our survivor's attitude.

I keep meaning to do a big shopping, instead I work/write. How about you? Are you prepared? Have you been to the supermarket/ammo store to stock up on the necessities? Did you get those silver dimes and quarters, or, are you waiting just a bit longer?
