Trump Has No Mandate—Trump Has No Overview

It was imperative we elected Trump, not because, as is rumored, God saved him to save the republic, instead that we rid ourselves of a vicious left that was willing to sell-out our republic to WEF globalists. Trump is a pause, giving us some breathing room.

Likened the left to communists with all that equity crap—lowering life to its lowest denominator, but see Trump is an authoritarian nationalist—with risk for national fascism.

Trump didn't win the election—walking away. He garnered about the same amount of votes as he did in 2020. Dems gave this election to Trump by staying home, having had enough of Biden's disastrous 4 years—to be continued under a moronic Kamala.

Trump is at cross-purposes with himself. He's gotten hip with Tulsi/Elon but the other hemisphere of his brain is stuck in low-brow MAGA. Maybe I will have to take that back, but I don't think so—as with his appointment of Ms. Stefanik, an uncompromising Zionist, opposed to relief for Gaza—ready to get it on with Iran—as UN Ambassador,

If Trump had an overview, Douglas MacGregor would be the Secretary of State, Tulsi would be Secretary of Defense, and Elon would be the Treasury Secretary. If Trump names the likes of Rubio (warhawk supreme), to State—it's over from the beginning.

Though things will seem better for Americans (in terms of the 1st/2nd Amendments), a few bad, high level appointments, will make diplomacy impossible. With State/Pentagon joined at the hip and Trump suffering from a John Wayne/Reagan time-warp view of the world, those 900 and some US bases, instead of being closed down, will be funded so as to continue with an imaginary view of US supremacy—a ship long sailed.

Trump is a grandiose city boy who will drown us in debt (he outspent Biden). Kristi Noem, Governor of South Dakota, will replace that fool, Mayorkas, as head of Homeland Security. HS came to us with the Patriot Act—a W/Cheney offering, when they found themselves paralyzed by 9/11 (that their ineptitude made possible). HS needs to go. 2 Years of its bloated (do nothing), budget, repays what we've wasted on Ukraine.

Maybe I'm being too hard on Trump, but, if he continues appointments of MAGA warmongers, he will assure the bankruptcy of the US—leaving us a pariah in the world. Trump has a small window—to rein in his ego—to find a place for the US in the world.

Make no mistake, we are living in a chamber of horrors, with danger at each corner. Trump needs to proceed constitutionally, reducing the size/cost of government. With no mandate in the Constitution for US Empire/Global Policeman, unstring CIA at the knees—bring the troops home. End all illegalities—such as Department of Education.

This stuff about czars is all bullshit. Czars are not confirmed—therefore there is no budget. Bobby will accomplish nothing unless he is the head of Health/Human Services. If he gets thrown the czar bone—it's nothing more than reaffirmation of Pharma.

Our food is killing us. Things such as fruit loops, in other nations, are flavored with fruit juices—here it's done with petroleum. Bobby could add years to American lives.

Trump will do good things—get us out of WHO treaty—and its mission of global medical slavery. But some of Trump's predilections/policies may prove to be our undoing. He wants to stop the export/import bleeding with protectionism—but tariffs will only open the wound. Tariffs, unless applied judiciously—are as bad as wage/price controls.

Decades ago, we might have exerted control with tariffs—but we aren't the big deal we once were. China's exports to the Global South are 4X what they are to the US. China's exports to the global south total $1.6T, a year—that's more than all of China's exports to the US, EU, Japan, and other allies. Tariffs on goods we can't produce, or produce un-competitively, will cause our producers to raise prices/costs to Americans.

Trump sees enemies and will continue to do Netanyahu's bidding. 80% of Israelis favored Trump to win, knowing he's in the pocket of Sheldon/Miriam Adelson for 100 million bucks. Unfortunately he's there ideologically and debt-wise. Israelis remember that a 1st term Trump gave-over large swaths of West Bank to settlers. He's their boy.

Netanyahu is Zelensky X 10. It was Netanyahu who wanted to take out Gaddafi and Assad—and got the US to do his bidding. Netanyahu cannot survive peace—so he has nothing to lose. The only thing that allows his horror to continue is assurance of US, UN Security Council veto—without which Bibi faces ever-growing wrath from the world.

Though it get little air-time in the West, there is a serious Arab League peace proposal, based on the 1967, 2-State solution, wherein Palestine gets back all territory taken by Israel over 50-some years. That adds up to a lot of rabid, right wing settlers. MBS/Saudi Arabia has his line in the sand: no Israeli diplomatic relations w/out 2 state.

Russia. Trump might be able to play a part in ending the Ukraine conflict. But, does Trump understand US responsibility for the murder/maiming of more than a million young Ukrainians? And that Putin will dictate the terms—not withstanding Trump's ego? Neutrality/no NATO/deNazification—those are the uncompromisable conditions.

The US is not prepared to fight either a regional or world war. Consider Trump's 1st term defense budget ($800B+) Every dem voted to give madman (Trump), $800B. At our peak (maybe 1973), we had by far the best military in the world. But with the end of the gold standard and a ramped-up credit/debt cycle, the dollar bought less as we abandoned entrepreneurial competition for cronyism. Now, the waste in the US military is analogous to Ukraine, where just a few billion $ of funding makes it to front lines.

The only economic fix for the US (maybe possible but difficult), is facing up to partial default, and immediate/large/across the board cuts in government spending for empire.

I fear that instead of telling that pedantic, pathetic, lawn-care attired Ukrainian, the war is over and he best relocate if he can, Trump will tap-dance, casting Iran, Russia, China as US enemies, rather than adversaries—assuring the US as a global outcast.

What about gold? US dollars are going to bitcoin because Trump supports it. Gold corrected for 2 1/2 years of Trump's 1st term, mainly because he was going to make America great again. That won't happen. Before too very long—gold/silver will shine.
