Who's Behind The Curtain?

When friends/readers point to Islam as the problem, I suggest they dig deeper. Is Islam a problem? Compared to the New Testament, the Koran presents serious problems—but it's not the problem. 10s of 1000s of little brown Arabs being slaughtered by Netanyahu has little to do with Islam. More to do with real estate. Zionism insists the people of Palestine be ethnically cleansed—without regard to color—or religious affiliation.

Blaming Islam necessitates a closer look at causation. Classically, there are 4 causes. Material—what something is made from. Efficient—the means for a cause to act out. Formal—the entity behind the cause. Final—ultimate prime mover behind being.

Consider illegal immigration, 1st in Europe (I heard from a friend that Ireland is over-run). Then the United States, about which we believed—it could never happen here.

Migrants, whether they be Muslims/Chinese (it doesn't matter), are the efficient—not the formal cause. They are the means used to put the cause in action. Some entity, behind the curtain, brought the migrants here to use them against us. But who/what is the cause behind it? A question—not to be dismissed with some off-the-cuff answer.

Is Trump working behind the scenes with Xi/Putin on a great reset? Can you see Trump masterminding a reset? Conversely, an entity such as WEF controlling Trump would be herding cats. If Trump oversees a reset—it's an unanticipated consequence..

Whoever's behind dismantling the US is promoting an inhuman cause. Trump's policies and actions could be the efficient cause behind a reset, but not the formal cause.

If only Trump were as intelligent as he is decisive—but he's not. Americans didn't vote for quelling campus protests, in support of a Zionist protected-class—Middle East mass murder. Nor did we vote to bomb Yemen—or Trump lying about why we stopped.

We voted for Trump to end wars. Instead, Trump officials appear to be laying groundwork for military action (drone strikes), against drug cartel traffickers in Mexico—without Mexican government consent. The last time we took such action—1914.

Aware of illegal Israeli nukes, Trump demands: 'full dismantlement of Tehran's nuclear program. Total dismantlement. Yes, that is all I would accept. I want Iran to be really successful, really great, really fantastic. The only thing they can't have is a nuclear weapon.' Aware that Israel demands the annihilation of Iran, Trump remains steadfast?

Since it's not Trump, who/what is behind the reset? Which begs the question: does a great reset involve a great war? Would a war function to sideline/nullify questioning?

That causes me to ask another interesting question. How would historical citizens deal with migrants who raped daughters and stabbed? 2 solutions—castration/killing.

Imagine migrants in the Old West or County Cork who raped daughters? Castrated for sure—likely worse. Immediate, just reactions of indigenous people? In nature, the way it ought to be? This goes beyond any judicial system—you did this to my daughter.

Why is this not justice? Is it because the West has been emasculated? There has been no effort by US government to sustain 2nd Amendment or right to self/family-defense. In contrast to the founders intent to assure rights American citizens are what matters, individual rights don't count—everything's structured to benefit group interests.

Formal cause in dismembering the West depends on emasculating its people. We can get closer to naming who's behind that curtain—by describing their attributes. They are inhuman, devoid of ethics/compassion—in service to unfathomable greed/control.

How will they accomplish this? By extending limited liability to migrants—replacing cops and soldiers with migrants—illegals who didn't grow up here, and having little compunction for dealing with citizens—unmercifully. Once migrants are established as the efficient cause for the dirty work—it's over/done. A real life equivalent for robo-cops.

Citizens will only take so much before we get a remake of the French Revolution. That's why the Great War needs to happen. But this time, it will be a tough sell, even given the vitriol heaped on Russia/China/Iran. Will young Americans give up blood—for tyranny? Maybe they will in Europe (or Canada), where government lunacy is under-terred. Hopefully I'm wrong. Maybe war mongers fail in the US—and across the West.

For now, especially in Europe—lunacy reigns supreme, but for how long are they going to be able to hold down so many nations? This is real—this is ultimate. Everything on the line. This could well be the last great battle for humanity. For the resistance to win will involve things, undreamt of. Provinces in Canada will break-away and go their own ways. Regions of Britain/the Continent will fight with one another—over freedom.

The EU will come apart in a movement to the right—which will not be pretty. Disparate nations, to survive, will become deeply nationalistic—taking things into their own hands. With a behind the curtain agenda to take everything, nations, states will nationalize all resources to hold off the greedy buggers. This is our water/oil. Move along.

Only then, when constituencies recognize what they're up against, can public/private partnerships come into being to serve nations/people. Until then, serving as efficient causes for the tyranny, referring to law enforcement as needing totally defunded, or slaughtering children in Gaza, or Yemen, serves only one agent of cause—colonizers.

The United States has but one hope—Trump recognizes, before the fact, he cannot beat the resistors of colonialism in a war, and accepts a peace—he sees as a win. But, that is a path replete with danger—where Trump has to break with Netanyahu, sign on to a neutral Ukraine, and respect security guarantees for Russia/EU, and Iran.

At the same time, the great enemy, China, has to be recast as a working partner adversary—with an admission that Taiwan has always been China—and always will be.

If those things cannot happen, we will witness a horror that will reduce the world to rubble—especially the West. Without peace, politics will be something to witness but not participate in. Once blame begins looking for a victim—no one will be safe. There will be nowhere to go, Canada and Mexico will be hostiles. Here might be even worse.

Will your pre-65 dimes, food, and arms matter? Don't matter—they're all you've got.
