Who's Pulling the Levers?

Nobody. The levers were pulled long ago and over time the hegemony and Americans have gotten into lock step with the program. What's the program? It began just after WW2 when Harry Truman, rather than disband the horror being created by the Dulles Bros, allowed them to develop what now rules the world—CIA (in cahoots with Israel).

Look no further than the creation of NATO in 1949. The lie perpetuated on Americans: NATO was needed to oppose the Warsaw Pact and Stalin's Soviet Union. Unfortunately it was false—the Warsaw Pact came into being in 1955—as a defense against NATO.

For those of you who yet reckon that Russia is the aggressor in Ukraine and Iran is waging a terrorist proxy war across the Middle East, you got it wrong. Because the US decided 75 years ago, to expand rather than implement global security agreements (the type Putin wants now), the US is responsible for most global strife we face today.

Before Putin invaded Ukraine in 2022, he met with Xi where they agreed there was no alternative—everything had been tried and nothing was going to stop Western expansion and goals to subjugate China—while breaking Russia into US energy sectors.

Some of my propagandized friends scoff at the idea China does not con trol BRICs. They see China as they see Russia, something hateful and dark, with a plan to destroy the US from within. Yet BRICs is built around a model, respecting sovereignty. Is the US take on China—reflective of the facts?

Klaus Schwab (WEF) never pulled levers—he's way too dumb. Instead, he implemented lever pulls, long in motion. Now Trump (a stupid, ignorant man), finds himself a deer in the headlights, along with NATO/Europe, abandoned by Trump, with no idea where to turn.

Russia always names it's enemy number 1—this year, it's a new one. Instead of the US, it's Germany, where, as of January 1, no German male can leave Germany for more than 3 months, without permission. This is the way it began in Ukraine, where, now, young men can't leave the country. Instead, they're rounded and rushed to the front lines for execution.

The world, except for the Global South, has abysmally ignorant, uneducated leaders. Western leadership supports what the US/EU/Israel did to Gaza, Ukraine, Syria, Libya—and now Iran.

Politics and economics work together. Sometimes, politics drives economics and sometime economics drives politics. But now, even on the brink of a dollar collapse, politics looms large. Trump wants to add 50% to his already bloated—war-making budget.

Americans don't understand Trump (voting for him neither did I). His play-book is not something new. He's there to assure that levers, long ago pulled, stay pulled. There's no mysticism about this—it's not Bilderbergs or Freemasons—it's something more easily grasped, done in the name of control/subjugation and profit from US wars of choice.

Trump fits that bill. Using a notorious New York lawyer, Roy Cohn—a fortune was made, allegedly, using coercion. When dealing with Trump didn't go his way, he allegedly resorted to lawsuits. Failing that, he declared bank ruptcy, leaving creditors hanging.

That's his motif now as nations such as Saudi Arabia scramble to get out of the way of Trump's insults and economic torture. Is anyone immune from Trump stepping on their neck to make his way forward? Are any of Trump's advisors safe from DJ Trump?

Readers, such as this guy, go after me as if I'm blind to facts. For example: 'You do not give Trump enough credit for all he has done....Trump is facing a near impossible situation with our debt, but he has a plan and you are watching it play out without realizing it. If you are playing to the middle, you need to be fair or you will lose them as you have lost the right. Sounds like you are a peak oil fan. We have not yet begun to discover the world's vast oil fields, other than the easy ones. You sound to me a lot like the far left. Unhappy with being American and no solutions of your own. You bitch about Trump like a CNN commentator.' Is this a true representation of me?

I looked this guy up in my contacts and it appears he's been a reader for some time. I get similar words from readers who lean towards Trump but can't admit it. I'm bashing Trump, bitching, complaining. Sometimes I throw Trump a bone when he does good things—giving Title 9 back to women—not biological males. But, overall, Trump is a war criminal, mass murderer, balancing the US budget by global theft. What's his plan to save us? Raise the war budget 50%, so as to intimidate using threat and coercion?

Something I spoke to in my last article, the—science will save us myth. For this reader it's a sea of unfound oil yet to be discovered. Why don't I hear about it from independent energy experts like Art Berman? Why don't they don't see seas of oil waiting for discovery.

Accusing me of being from the left—that's a bridge too far. Was this guy reading articles during the decade I was going after Obama/Biden—hard?

I'm unhappy being an American with no solutions? Yeah, I'm unhappy but I have a simple solution. Love your nation rather than some insane rendition of what a president is supposed to be—someone who adheres to the Constitution/Bill of Rights. Someone that mind's his/America's own business.

Somehow, facts have become 2nd rate. We speak of catastrophic events like we used to tap about the weather. Humanity isn't the same as it was. Now, it's rare to encounter the type of questioner who would've been more easily found during the 1960s.

Instead, I get unsubscribes who first inform me that the Israeli Defense Force is the most humane army in the world. I guess they missed those Tik-Tok videos of IDF celebrating the murder of children. With a vastness of on-line information—how is it we are brain dead?

Trump, ever unhinged/desperate, interrupts Easter with f/ing expletives. Why is this degeneracy allowed? In 2028, do we get another Kamala Harris as president? I see she's back in the news telling us to be clear-eyed, meaning, stop Trump from appointing more Supreme Court Justices, so that the left will have opportunity to pack the court with more justices.

Justice Jackson (appointed by Biden because she's black), is the model—someone who doesn't belong there, favoring an activist court. That's also what Trump wants because strict constitutionalists (that he appointed), won't find for him—outside the Constitution.

Am I unhappy? You bet, because so many blindly aid and abet slaughter.

The only way I gain new readers is from the middle—not the right or left. If you know someone who might benefit from my articles, please forward so that I can maintain subscribers against un-subscribers. Get my articles by e-mail with a request, or comment:
